

OFR BACKPACK Program

When a wounded service person is evacuated from the battlefield more often than not they arrive for treatment with no personal items or suitable clothing.

Operation First Response Backpacks are filled with a change of clothing, hygiene items, additional comfort items and a handmade cot size quilt.

OFR Backpacks are packed and sent by OFR to combat support hospitals (CHS) in theatre and other locations when contacted by military liaisons that are in need of our services. OFR Backpacks are dispersed as needed by liaisons at Combat Support Hospitals in theatre and U.S. base locations.
